

This is an example of what your graph MAY look like depending on what temperature readings you get during your experiment.

